CUDA FISHING GLOVES

Designed to meet the needs of saltwater and freshwater anglers alike, Cuda has introduced a new line of marine and freshwater fishing gloves. Available in three styles including Bait, Wire Wrap and Offshore, all three models are constructed from puncture-resistant, multi-layer Kevlar. For added convenience, the gloves also incorporate touchscreen capabilities so you can operate a smartphone or other electronic device while wearing the gloves. Thanks to the Kevlar construction, the gloves are extremely durable and protect the wearer from cuts and abrasions, but lightweight and comfortable to wear for an extended period. Pull straps allow the wearer to take the gloves off with ease. The Bait model are lightweight and designed for cutting bait while the Wire Wrap model feature a reinforced/padded palm and exterior for wire wrapping. The offshore gloves are constructed with extra-strong padding where it's needed during the end game with large gamefish. All models are available in three sizes including medium, large and extra-large. Contact: Cuda at 800-835-2263 or visit www.cudabrand.com.
